

FOR PRESIDENT,
JAMES A. GARFIELD,
Of Ohio.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
CHESTER A. ARTHUR,
Of New York.

THE BACK PAY CHARGE.

The back pay charge against Hon. James A. Garfield has no foundation in fact. He voted against the bill both in discussion and in the conference committee, and fought it at every step, but when it was tacked on as an amendment to the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, he voted for the whole bill as chairman of the appropriation committee, being in charge of it himself. In a speech in the House December 9, 1873, speaking on this subject, Mr. Wilson, of Indiana, said:

"It matters not how many years of faithful service has been devoted to the country, nor how exalted a character for integrity has been built up, this one act has been deemed an unpardonable crime. My distinguished friend from Ohio (Mr. Garfield), who struggled against it until in a conference report, which he had resisted to the last, it was brought before the House attached to one of the most important appropriation bills, and then, as all of us who are familiar with these facts most confidently believe, (and it is but justice to him to say so here,) voted for it in the conscientious discharge of his duty to his country, has fared no better than any one else."

The record shows that Mr. Garfield never took his two year's back pay, though of course he accepted the increased salary, as did every other member of Congress. Speaking in reply to Alexander Stephens, who advocated still higher salaries, Mr. Garfield said: "One of the brightest and greatest men I know in this nation, a man who, perhaps, has done as much for its intellectual life as any other, told me not many months ago that he had made it the rule of his life to abandon any intellectual pursuit the moment it became commercially valuable; that others would utilize what he had discovered; that his field of work was above the line of commercial values, and when he brought down the great truths of science from the upper heights to the level of commercial value, a thousand hands would be ready to take them and make them valuable in the markets of the world."

A voice—"Who was he?" "It was Agassiz. He entered upon his great career, not for the salary it gave him, for that was meagre compared with the pay of those in the lower walks of life; but he followed the promptings of his great nature and worked for the love of truth and for the instruction of mankind. Something of this spirit has pervaded the lives of the great men who did so much to build up and maintain our Republican institutions. And this spirit is in my judgment, higher and worthier than that which the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. Stephens) has described. To come immediately to the question before us, I join in no criticisms against those who used their right to vote and act differently from myself on this subject. But when the public says to me, and to those associated with me, that we have, under constitutional law, given ourselves more pay than that public is willing to grant us, it would be indelicate and indecent in us on such a question to resist that public opinion."

The intelligent reader will judge whether Mr. Garfield in this speech exhibited the spirit of a salary-grabber, or a sordid politician. He spoke simply as he has acted all his life through. He has not been a money-maker. Spite of his great ability as a lawyer and a literary man he is one of the poorest public men in the nation, and at the same time one of the purest, most frugal, temperate and industrious. The Democracy have no hold upon General Garfield, and there is no blemish in his record which can destroy the faith and affection of the American people. The Democracy does not hesitate to manufacture and retail lies, but this is to be expected in regard to a man whom they fear as they do General Garfield.

The gross receipts from the internal revenue for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1880, estimating receipts for the two remaining days, will be in round numbers $123,000,000, an increase of $10,000,000 over the receipts of last year and an increase of $3,000,000 over the estimate of the Department. This increase is derived from whisky, cigars and cigarettes.

Garfield is climbing the ladder of fame on rounds of applause. The beauty of it is he built his own ladder, and knows that it will firmly bear him to the end.

Lyman Trumbull is the Democrat nominated for Governor of Illinois. He is an old relic of the Andy Johnson party, and about the last of his race.

A CINCINNATI EDITOR'S OPINION OF THE TWO TICKETS.

The Democratic Nominee Weak Where He Should Be Strong—A Guide for Hancock—Miscellaneous Politics.

CINCINNATI, June 25.—The following is the leading editorial in the Commercial, edited by Murat Halstead: As to the strength of the ticket it was the single purpose of the Democracy assembled in the Cincinnati Convention to nominate a strong ticket. They did not seek a leader of great experience, of critical public service and intellectual breadth; but they devoted themselves to finding a man with winning qualities. The man chosen is General Winslow Scott Hancock, who seems to have had transmitted, with his name, the imposing presence, charming manner and personal gallantry of General Scott, and so there is reason to believe, something of his inaptitude in affairs other than military. When Meade submitted to the discretion of Hancock, whether the decisive battle between the armies of the Potomac and Northern Virginia should be fought at Gettysburg, his fine soldier's eye told him at a glance, where the immortal line of battle should be drawn; but in the field to which he has now been summoned he would have to trust to the judgment of those who have had another sort of education. There is no more brilliant military record than that of Hancock, but it touches the civil policy only at a single point, the significance of which has had an exaggerated presentation and illustrates, perhaps, the General's social susceptibility more than his scruples under the Constitution. We have said that the nomination of Hancock was a strong one. How strong, is that he carries the solid South. That is his strength; but it is not personal to Hancock. Hancock's personal popularity will make the contest in Pennsylvania interesting, and may aid the re-election of Senator Wallace, but the ancient State that exacts eternal protection cannot be carried upon such a platform without treachery in high places. Neither Ohio nor Illinois is a doubtful State. New York and Indiana are.

THE BATTLEFIELDS.
And the latter by a "3 to 2" partisan decision of the Supreme Court has been relegated to the rank of an October State. Hancock may be more superb than strong in New York. The friends of Governor Tilden did not "enthrone" over the advance to the front of the rock-ribbed and ancient party of the West Point. The attitude of the New York delegation was that of humiliation and dependency, rather than of triumphant confidence. The embraces on the platform between the Tilden and Tammany chiefs were spectacular and not spontaneous. The many men of Tilden's following did not feel complimented by the conduct of the Convention. Mr. Belmont and other devoted friends of Senator Bayard, though slightly consoled by Tilden's defeat, were not compensated in Hancock's victory. It would not be natural for the thoughtful leaders of the Democracy in the imperial State to find the highest gratification in the political primary of Pennsylvania; certainly the action of the Cincinnati Convention does not make sure the calling and election of the Democrats in New York. The State is as doubtful as ever it was. The Democratic Party, as a matter of expediency, in terror of the bloody shirt, have escaped from the statesman—from Tilden, Hendricks, Bayard, Payne and Thurman, and taken refuge in the arms of a stately soldier, who has not given as satisfactory proof of being a good Democrat as Zachary Taylor did that he was a moderate Whig. We have no doubt that the Democratic Party will be able to evolve from its own robust consciousness a degree of enthusiasm, and it will be pleasant to all the Southern Confederates, marching again in political processions under the flag, and keeping step to the martial music of the Union. Strange and perplexing as it may seem to the Democracy, the ticket is obviously weak where it should have been, according to the great principle of winning, at all events, especially strong. It is weak in

THE DOUBTFUL OCTOBER STATE.
Indiana. The nomination of Mr. English is not only not strong itself—it is a blow at Hendricks, which strikes him in his tenderest part. Mr. English is the man who has been puffed for months by the Tilden organs, who have made it a point to hate and hunt Hendricks. English was put up for the annoyance of Hendricks, and the whole Indiana delegation, after making it a merit to stick to their great leader, and persist in a furious battle for him without hope, blaspheming Senator McDonald because he was thought of for the Presidency, and growing desperate over the suggestion that Indiana had any other favorite son than the one who was presented for the Presidency—after all this, to vote for English and make up the ticket by adding to the soldier the copperhead, an ex-banker for the Greenbackers, affords a spectacle that should be instructive. The brassbound and copper-bottomed Indiana Democrat who sympathized with the South, when in trouble, and looked the other way when he heard the war drums, may consent to take the crow when it comes as a gamecock, dressed with the spurs on; but if he must take it seasoned with a banker and real estate speculator, who has scraped the bones of the State and joins to his great wealth the reputation of a strict economist, he may be inspired by a superhuman sense of loyalty to his party to force the full dose into his stomach, but he will not hanker for it, and he will not, thus nourished, insist upon getting up in the morning at 2 o'clock to march upon the works of the enemy. There is waiting on the Wabash—not a roar of resentment, loud and long, challenging the nation to witness the woe of the faithful, who are hanging their harps upon the willow trees, and seek to pay the war debt in cornstalks no more, but the plaintive threnody that comes from sorrows that words cannot tell.

When Beaconsfield's late official residence was cleaned up over 4,000 mineral water bottles were found. "Mineral water" is good—or rather the idea that the bottles were of that denomination is good.—[Norristown Herald.]

NEWS OF THE MORNING.

The census shows Utah to have a population of 135,000.

It is now thought that General Logan will be made Chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Congressman Daggett is on his way home from Washington, traveling by easy stages, and is expected to arrive here on the 5th of July.

A Democratic mass meeting to ratify the nominations made at Cincinnati was held at the Indianapolis wigwag Tuesday night. An immense crowd assembled. Ex-Governor Hendricks presided. Speeches were made by Hendricks, W. M. English, the nominee for Vice President, and Senators Voorhees and McDonald. Great enthusiasm prevailed.

The bill taxing foreign bank capital has been signed by Governor Cornell of New York. It provides that every foreign bank or banking company doing business in that State shall be taxed annually one-half of one per cent. on the average of all sums of money used or employed in that State. Among the principal banks affected by the bill are the Bank of California and the Bank of Nevada.

The California Supreme Court Monday afternoon, on petition of the San Francisco Board of the City Hall Commissioners, issued a writ of mandate commanding the Board of Supervisors to raise the tax levy for the completion of the City Hall to fifteen cents in lieu of one cent. The Board of Supervisors, in conformity with the writ, made the requisite changes. This raises the tax levy for the city and county to $157 against $137 last year, and this on a largely increased valuation. The Board also passed to print an order fixing the gas rate at $2 70.

Great Star Distances.

The methods of finding the distances of the stars, or stellar parallax, is one of the interesting problems of modern astronomy. In the days of old the stars were supposed to hold the same position in regard to each other from age to age, and were therefore called fixed stars, to distinguish them from planets. Nothing could be further from the truth. The telescope shows that the stars are in constant motion, but that the rate of motion is so slow that thousands of years must elapse before the eye can perceive any change. Some stars are coming toward us and others are receding from us. The sun, which is only a star, is moving with all the planets in his train. Our earth, which is but an atom among atoms, is whirling, no one knows whither, through illimitable space. Even the serene heaven above us is this same space pervaded by an infinitely subtle ether, whose particles are seething and surging like the waves of the stormy sea. The motion of the stars once established, it must follow that some of them are nearer to us than others, and very persistent and painstaking have been the efforts to find out which of the shining suns of space are our nearest neighbors.

Success has, however, crowned patient labor. Among the 50,000,000 stars that glitter in the firmament, there are about a half a dozen stars visible in our latitude that have a parallax ranging from a tenth to a half a second. It would be natural to suppose that the brighter stars are the nearest, but this is far from being the case. The nearest star in the northern heavens is a double star of the fifth magnitude—the Swan—known as 61 Cygni. The brilliant Sirius is nearly twice as far away. The nearest star in the whole heavens is Alpha Centauri, a bright star near the south pole. This has a parallax of nine-tenths of a second and is twice as near as any other star. Its distance is computed at more than 200,000 times our distance from the sun, or nearly 20,000,000 of miles. If such be the inconceivable distance separating us from the nearest star; what idea can the infinite mind form of the immensity of space intervening between us and the more remote?

The Burlington Hawkeye says: We once knew a man who was always praising his wife. On the corner, down street at the Postoffice, at the racetrack, in the skating-rink, at the theater, in the saloon, that is choir meeting, he was always telling what a happy man he was, just because he had such a splendid wife, and talked every man he met into a perfect frenzy of envy about her. Well, one winter morning when it was not too light to make one appear overly ostentatious, we sneaked into that neighbor's yard to steal a fence board for kindling, and had to wait before we could safely obtain it, until that man's wife came out and sawed a couple of armful of wood, shoveled out three paths, fed and groomed the horse and cleaned out the cow shed, and then when she went into the house and we heard her call to her husband that the sitting room was warm enough for him to dress in if he wanted to get up now, we were so amazed that we forgot what we were waiting for, and went back and kindled the fire with a corn cob and a pint of kerosene.

NAMING THE TRUMP.—"But I pass," said the Mason Valley minister recently in discussing one theme to take up another. "Then I make it spades," yelled a man from the gallery, who was dreaming the happy hours away in an imaginary game of euchre. It is needless to say that he went out on the next deal, assisted by one of the deacons.

It is now stated that the comet recently discovered by Prof. Eastman, of the Ann Arbor Observatory, will not be visible to the naked eye at all. Those who are disappointed, however will have their money refunded at the door.—[Peck's Milwaukee Sun.]

Carson on Its "Dig."

The Carson Tribune thinks the Reno base ballists unreasonable because they object to playing the Socials of that city, if either of the four professionals played, and then admits that Mr. Carroll had joined the Socials, under the plea of permanent residence, when all four said, when here, that they were on their way east. Carroll was not a member when the challenge was sent and accepted. Again, if the Socials are so sure they can beat the Live Oaks, why secure an expert? The Reno boys have made all arrangements to play the proposed game, and will yet, if no experts participate, or if they have Leary as an offset to Carroll. Just take the nine of your genuine Carson club, and the Live Oaks will be no less eager for a game than the Socials. It is not dictation to make this stand, but a matter of common justice, which is apparent to all. It looks as if Carson was afraid, and secured Mr. Carroll to save themselves the chagrin of being defeated by Reno.

A Fine Ranch.

Our reporter accepted a kind offer made by A. C. McFarlin, and visited his ranch, which is situated on the table lands at the foot of the Sierras, some two miles south of town. Mr. McFarlin has had the ranch but three years and in that time has employed but little help, but he has, by hard work, cleared off over sixty acres and put it under cultivation. He has as much more land, which will be put into seed as fast as possible. The South Side ditch, in which Mr. McFarlin is a stockholder, will irrigate all but about 15 acres of his land. Had it not been for the grasshoppers he would have had a fine crop this year, but the pests hatched out early and "went for" the green sprouts as fast as they showed themselves above ground. The consequence is that he will not realize over a third of a crop. His strawberry patch suffered badly. He ought to be able to pick 3,000 boxes of it, but he does not expect to get more than 500 boxes. That is he did before our hungry reporter visited them. Now we suppose he prefers to have the grasshoppers, for they do not make as clean a job. Mr. McFarlin's ranch is one of the best located in the valley, and commands a fine view. He is getting a fine property and if he can have a few years of prosperity, will be as well fixed as any reasonable man could ask. He is cutting his clover now, in order to save a little of it from the clouds of hungry hoppers that are disputing with him for the possession of every green leaf. He has a fine head of water running all the time and is in good shape to make money. We don't know of any man we would rather see get rich than that same A. C. McFarlin.

Cheap Fare.

The people of Virginia, Gold Hill and Carson, having concluded to join in a grand celebration of the "Fourth" at Virginia, Monday, July 5th, 1880, special tickets to Virginia and return will be sold at reduced rates, as follows: $1 from Mound House, Empire, Carson, Lakeview, Franktown and Washoe; $1.50 from Steamboat, Brown's and Huffaker's; $2 from Reno. These tickets will be good only on all regular trains of Monday, July 5th. If offered for passage after July 5th, they will be refused and regular fare collected.

Counted It Over.

The Carson Times of the 29th says: "Lieut-Gov. Adams and Secretary of State Babcock this morning went over the Controller's accounts; ascertained how much money should be in the State Treasury, and made a thorough examination of the affairs of that office, counting every piece of coin, etc., they could find. They report that everything is absolutely correct."

Surveying

The surveyors for the railroad north commenced their labors yesterday. The southern party start out to-day. It is calculated that it will take forty days to do the work north and thirty-five days to survey the route south as far as Bodie. Meanwhile all necessary arrangements will be made, it is stated, for the work of construction.

K. of P.

At the last regular meeting of Amity Lodge, No. 8, K. of P., the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: Alson Dawson, P. C.; A. A. Evans, C. C.; Nate W. Koff, V. C.; Chas. J. Campbell, K. of R. & S.; H. J. Thoms, M. of F.; J. F. Myers, M. of E.; Orvis Ring, Prelate; J. M. Flanagan, Trustee.

Census Returns.

Some of the census enumerators have completed their work. Mr. Allen reports the number of people in his district at 1,543; of Wadsworth district 800; Budden is not through yet. Reno is put at 2,342. This looks strange when there are 800 children in the town.

R. L. Fulton and others are unfortunate because their accounts with the Savings Bank were assigned and they thereby prevented from offsetting with claims which might be purchased for 20 cents on the dollar. Had not this been the case Mr. Fulton could have paid the $2,400 he has owed for nearly two years for about $480, whereas he would doubtless have rejoiced.

The San Francisco Freeholders have practically finished the new city charter, and have agreed to submit it to a vote of the people at a special election to be held on the second Wednesday of September next.

The cheapest place in Reno for drugs, medicines, and patent medicines, is at Myers' drug store, two doors west of the Postoffice.

For first-class Havana cigars, two for 25 cents, call at John F. Myers' drug store, two doors west of the Postoffice.

If you want your watch repaired or cleaned to give satisfaction, you will have to go to Goeggele, west side of Virginia St.

To the Public.

Reno, Nev. April 10, 1880.
We shall discontinue our banking and brokerage business on or about July 1, 1880. All persons indebted to us must settle their accounts in full before that date.

A National Bank Incorporation will succeed us (and occupy our present quarters or place of business.) All deposits in our hands at that date will be transferred to said incorporation.

D. A. BENDER & Co.
TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF COMPTROLLER OF CURRENCY,
WASHINGTON, May 26, 1880.

Whereas, by satisfactory evidence being presented to the undersigned, it has been made to appear that "The First National Bank of Reno," in the town of Reno, in the county of Washoe and State of Nevada, has complied with all the provisions of the Revised Statutes of the United States, required to be complied with before an association shall be authorized to commence the business of banking.

Now, Therefore I, John Jay Knox, Comptroller of the Currency, do hereby certify that "The First National Bank of Reno," in the town of Reno, in the County of Washoe and State of Nevada, is authorized to commence the business of banking, as provided in Section Fifty-one hundred and sixty-nine of the Revised Statutes of the United States.

In testimony whereof witness my hand and Seal of office, this 26th day of May, 1880.
JNO. JAY KNOX,
Comptroller of the Currency.

TO THE JUNIOR MINE.
[No. 421.]
UNITED STATES LAND OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE Sherman Gold and Silver Mining Company, whose Postoffice address is Reno, Washoe county, Nevada, has this day filed its application for a patent for seven hundred and seventy-five linear feet of the Junior mine or vein bearing gold and silver with surface ground as shown by the following field notes situate, lying and being in Pyramid Lake Mining District, county of Washoe and State of Nevada, and known and designated by the field notes and official plat on file in this office as Lot Number 38, in Township twenty-three North, Range twenty-one East of Mount Diablo Base and Meridian. The exterior boundaries of said Lot No.
38 being as follows, to-wit: Variation 17 deg.
East. Commencing at a post marked No. 1, 6
S. No. 38, where shaft on this claim bears S

This claim is bounded on the northeast by the Armstrong and Bond claims; on the southeast by the Dean and T. R. J. claims; on the southeast by the Gill, and on the northwest by Lone River claim.
The location of this mine is duly recorded in the Recorder's office of Pyramid Lake Mining District in book "A" of Pyramid Lake Mining Records. Any and all persons claiming adversely any portion of said Junior mine or said mining ground as hereinbefore described, are required to file their adverse claim with the Register of the United States Land Office at Reno, in the State of Nevada, during the sixty days period of publication hereof, or they will be barred by virtue of the provisions of the Statute.

private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.
MIDDLE-AGED MEN.
There are many at the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with too frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits aropy sediment will often be found and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin milky hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance.
There are many men who die of this difficulty ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. DR. SPINNEY will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genital urinary organs.

Consumption. He says:
"A neighbor's wife was attacked with violent lung disease, and pronounced by good help from Quack Conscience. As a last resort the family was persuaded to try HALL'S BALSAM. To the astonishment of all, by the time she had used one-half dozen bottles she was about the house doing her own work. I saw her at her worst
